

Welcome back to the health information profession!

Re-entering the profession during a global pandemic can be stressful, and we are grateful for your willingness to help your fellow health information professionals during these unprecedented times. As your national Association, we have compiled a list of resources that are worth reviewing depending on the line of work you are in.

CIHI

Codes and Classifications (general page)
Version 2018 ICD-10-CA/CCI (FAQ)
Education portal + resource library (Log-in required)

Courses [log-in required]

- 1005E – Using ICD-10-CA/CCI, what every analyst needs to know
- 87E – Applied diagnosis types and main – other problem assignment
- 955E – Moving forward using Version 2018 of ICD-10-CA/CCI
- 250E – DAD submissions and corrections: Rules and Tools

Additional resources

HealthCareCAN/CHA Learning: Coding refresher course

Douglas College: Health Data classifications refresher (to launch late spring 2020)

McMaster | Continuing Education: Health Information Management Certificate * A thorough 5-course refresh

McMaster | Continuing Education & NiHi: Health online workshops

NiHi: Health care analytics

St. Scholastica: Massive Open Online Courses \(MOOCs\) are classes that are offered online, free of charge

CHIMA: The Canadian Health Information Management Lifecycle textbook